Dear Sirs.
Good Day.

Thanks for consulting Alphamar for assistance.

Crew Change is being conducted at main Brazilian ports, however indeed the sanitary and immigration requirements have regular changes.
Brazil is signatory of ILO Convention 185, and based on this agreement all ratified nationalities have free transit at Brazilian Territory using it's seaman identification - SID.

In order to keep and guarantee compliance with all formalities, we have a partnership with a Crew Broker that provide assistance and clearance since crew arrival at first Brazilian Airport.
SULTRADE, reading in copy, is our broker and will reply with details and best practices to avoid delays and have controlled/predictable costs.

Alphamar will keep doing the best assistance for a safe and optimized logistic.

@Sultrade - Operations Dept.

Please reply H&J Marine with most updated procedures for Crew Change and required breakdown of costs.

Thanks in advance.

Best Regards
